Merge Left

Fusing Race and Class, Winning Elections, and Saving America

From presidential hopefuls to engaged voters to journalists to activists, people across the country are grappling with how to think and talk about racism in American politics. Ian Haney López, a distinguished UC Berkeley professor and the acclaimed author of Dog Whistle Politics, offers clear insights and a way forward in his highly anticipated new book. Endorsed by Robert Reich, Van Jones, Jane Fonda, and the leaders of the AFL-CIO, SEIU, Voto Latino, Color of Change, Equal Justice Society, ROC United, and more, MERGE LEFT: Fusing Race and Class, Winning Elections, and Saving America offers a powerful, truly original, and even hopeful new strategy for defeating the Right's racial fearmongering and achieving bold progressive goals.

Ian Haney
LÓPEZ

“With great clarity and thoughtfulness, Ian Haney López shows why the path to a truly just society lies in a multi-racial coalition of poor, working and middle-class Americans. . . . Powerful, urgent, and timely.” —Robert B. Reich

Ian Haney López is a law professor at UC Berkeley and commentator on coded racism in American politics. Ian co-founded the Race-Class Narrative Project and co-chaired the AFL-CIO's recent Advisory Council on Racial and Economic Justice.
